WELCOME from the Director.....

Let me start by thanking you for attending tonight's performance.

I would like to warn you that if you are here for a show with deep meaning or a moral.....you have come to the wrong place. This is your opportunity to sit back, relax and just laugh at the silliness that is "Hello, Is There Any Body There?" This was no easy undertaking. I had to try to train every actor and myself to throw out all of the rules we have been taught about being on stage. "Don't look at the audience"....thrown out. "Don't ask for lines while on stage".....thrown out, and the biggest No No of all..... "Don't break that dreaded fourth wall"all of them thrown out.

On a personal note, I chose this show for one reason. I knew it would drive the man that taught me almost everything I know about theater absolutely crazy. Unfortunately I lost my dear friend and teacher earlier this season, Michael Wilkes this is for you! Thank you for what you have taught me. I hope this makes you proud.

Respectfully
Jay Sydow
Director
